

No Wiscracking, Uphill
J. I. Straus' Pool
Job, Ford and Valentino
Turning Real Money Away

By Arthur Brisbane
CYRUS H. K. CURTIS asks why Mr. Hoover is so "cranky." Mr. Coolidge, says Mr. Curtis editorially, "used to drop a word of humor, of sentiment, of homely common sense." In intimate conversations he "made the most delicious of dry New England wisecracks."

Mr. Curtis' editorial writer would have President Hoover make some "delicious wisecracks" also.

It will be remembered, however, that Mr. Coolidge spent eight years merrily rolling along on the high tide of prosperity. That makes wisecracking easy.

There is a difference between sliding downhill on your toboggan and dragging it uphill. Mr. Hoover is dragging his up.

James I. Straus, president of R. H. Macy & Co., discovers after a careful poll of former Democratic delegates and states that Governor Roosevelt of New York is the overwhelming Democratic favorite, with 418 votes against 125 for former Governor Smith. New York is not included in the poll.

Nevertheless, and notwithstanding, any candidate who gets the nomination should be careful to get, with it, the earnest indorsement of former Governor Smith. Without that, delegates and their nomination would not be very useful.

Dorothy Dix, who understands men and women, answers the question: "What kind of husband do women want?" Thus: "A woman's ideal husband would show a composite picture of Valentino, Henry Ford and Job."

She suggests that Valentino's beauty, Ford's money, and Job's patience in a husband.

But Henry Ford, with his high forehead, is for an intelligent woman, much better looking than Valentino ever was, and he has more patience than Job, who only sat down and complained. Ford works.

A woman wants a husband "who can make love with one hand and money with the other," says Miss Dix.

That is part of clever writing. The reality is that a good woman wants a husband that she can respect, one able to provide for his children, and possessed of loyalty. That is not too much to ask.

Frederic M. Zivian, general manager of the Amberg Trading Corp., which is Russia's buying agency in the United States, is told that he can't stay any longer. He is here legally, with a visitor's permit, but the government is not sure.

That same government extends permits to all sorts of persons, and lecturers, and knows what from Europe. This seems a queer time to expel somebody who is here to spend real money, and Amberg is spending it by the millions.

Many, during the boom, treated superciliously the advice of "Don't gamble," F. O. Morse, aged 65, of Rochester, N. Y., said that he had been including the house in which he lived.

At all that he had been including the house in which he lived. He was too old, at 65, to "come back in Wall Street," he solved his problem by killing himself, his wife and her brother.

He who gambles when he is old is doubly foolish, gambling away the chance of a peaceful death.

Hands across the sea can be shaken mournfully. Great Britain has a deficit of $235,000,000. President Hoover, back from the Virgin Islands, finds what looks like a deficit of $700,000,000, due to a drop in income taxes.

Fortunately, Uncle Sam is not without resources. He could, if he chose, print the money and everybody would take it gladly. Also he can slow down his recklessly rapid program of paying off war debts, and imagine that some later have the honor of contributing part.

Panama City, March 31 (AP)—With a great pall of smoke hovering over the city of Managua from a fierce fire which followed today's quake, it was impossible to calculate the number of dead and wounded, but the number must be high. A loud explosion and rattling flames in a murky sky heralded the disaster which overtook the airplane today near Bazaar, identified by its numbers as the Transcontinental & Western Air Express plane upon which Rockne and the other victims were riding to California.

Edward Baker, a farmer, youth, was a witness to the tragedy. He said his attention was attracted by a terrific explosion in the foggy sky. Looking up, the youth saw an airplane fall into flames and rocket toward the earth. It crashed in a field near where he was feeding cattle.

Baker said he recognized the plane as the mail liner which had

MANY KILLED BY QUAKE IN NICARAGUA

and the Presidential Palace, a severe landslide addition.

CAPITAL OF PROVINCE

The city is on the Pacific railway. Its importance dates from 1888, when it was chosen as the capital of the province as the result of continuous rivalry between the cities of Leon and Granada. It is an important distributing point for points on or near the east shore of Lake Managua and Salinas. A number of important wholesale firms have offices there as well as retail houses, both native and foreign.

1500 Marines Are Stationed in Nicaragua

Washington, March 31.—Approximately 1500 Marines are stationed in Nicaragua. On March 7, Rear Admiral Arthur B. C. Smith, commander of the United States forces in Central America, was ordered by the Navy Department to begin gradual withdrawal of his forces.

The plan was to move 500 Marines out by June 1 and the remainder by January 1, 1932, after the inauguration of the new Nicaraguan government. Part of the detachment was quartered in rebel areas in the interior and part in Managua and other strategic points.

The revolutionary activities of the insurgent leader, Augustin Sandino, led to the dispatching of United States forces to his native land. The troops were withdrawn for a short time, but were sent back in 1927 when disorders against the government again broke out.

The Marine headquarters in Managua is in the old presidential palace, built of volcanic stone. Most of the officers are quartered in this building. The men, however, are living in tents in a large parade ground called the Campo de Marte.

The aircraft squadron, consisting of 17 officers and 120 men, is at the airport three miles out of Managua, housed in two large adobe buildings.

Breides Col. Frederick L. Bradman, the ranking officers of the Marine force in Nicaragua are Lieut.-Col. Franklin Garrett, Maj. Ralph E. Davis, Maj. Anderson C. Kearney, Maj. Clyde C. McCallie.

Maj. Joseph D. Murray and Maj. William C. Wynn, Jr., command the aircraft squadron near Managua.

MEDICAL UNIT TAKEN

In addition to the Marine brigade, several Marine officers are assigned to the Guardia Nacional de Nicaragua, including the following: Maj. Robert L. Deane, Maj. John Marston, Maj. Walter G. Sheard, Maj. Julius C. Smith, Maj. Charles A. Wynn.

The army has an engineering detachment in Nicaragua, engaged in surveying a proposed canal across that country. This consists of one battalion which is equipped with a field wireless outfit.

In addition there are 15 Managua naval officers and 25 enlisted men of the naval medical corps, who presumably will be able to care for wounded if they themselves escaped injury. This detachment is commanded by Lieut.-Comdr. L. C. Muller.

Only three American naval vessels are now in the vicinity of Nicaragua. The second-class cruiser Rochester and the gunboat Serrano were at Balboa, while the gunboat Asheville was at Gatun.

Miami, Fla., March 31 (AP).—Tropical Radio Station here received word of the Managua earthquake from the company's Panama City Station shortly before noon today, but said no information was contained in the radio message except that houses that were not destroyed were afraid to return.

The local station tried for further communication with Panama City. It does not work the Managua radio station.

Pan-American Airways officials also attempted to establish radio communication with their station at Managua after hearing of the earthquake.

SEASON POT-ROAST WITH SUGAR AS WELL AS SALT

Combined Flavors of Sugar and Salt Blend Deliciously
These are days when there are always bargains on the meat counter. A lady who bought a chuck-rot for 45 cents made a tasteful discovery by cooking it as follows:

Sear and brown both sides of the meat in an iron or pot-rot kettle containing two or three tablespoons of fat. Then sprinkle top surface of the meat with sugar as well as salt. Add about a cupful of water, then cover the kettle and cook for an hour. Turn the meat and sprinkle newly exposed side with sugar and salt. Continue cooking until the meat is tender, adding just enough water to keep the meat from burning. Serve with the gravy which remains in the kettle, thickened with flour if you wish. You'll be surprised at the unusual, full-bodied flavor in the meat as well as in the gravy.

Cheap cuts of lamb respond to this seasoning if you prefer that meat to beef. Vegetables also are more tasteful when a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is added. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

KNUTE ROCKNE IS KILLED IN AIR CRASH

regularly over his father's farm. He said he had not noticed the craft prior to the explosion.

Just as the plane was about to crash into the earth a burning heap of wreckage. Baker said he could distinguish the bodies of five men.

Mrs. Baker, the young man's mother, said she heard the explosion two miles distant at their farm home.

"The plane was flying low, and seemed to explode in the air," Mrs. Baker said. "My son watched it spin down in flames and burst itself in the spot where it fell."

Four of the bodies were identified at the scene of the crash.

The bodies, identified from cards, billboards and other personal belongings, were those of H. J. Christensen, Chicago; Spencer Goldwater, Alhambra, Calif.; Pilot R. O. Fry, and Co-pilot H. J. Mathias.

TOO LATE TO SEE FATHER.

The body of Knute Rockne could not be identified at that place where the flaming plane plumed to earth.

However, the luggage of one of the passengers contained sports goods and football equipment.

Billy Rockne and Knute Rockne, Jr., students at Fenwick school for boys here, returned from Florida this morning too late to greet their father as he passed through Kansas City.

News of the fatal crash had been kept from the sons of the famous football coach by school authorities. It was understood that the news would be broken to them by friends of the family.

The Rockne boys had been visiting their mother at Coral Gables, Fla. Their trains arrived at the Kansas City Union Station at 8:15 a. m., just 20 minutes after their father, who had hoped to see them, had hurried to the airport to catch his plane.

IN-PASSENGER PLANE

Western Air officials said their plane was a bi-engineer Pottker, tri-motorized air liner. Its departure, regularly set at 8:30 a. m., was delayed until 9:15 a. m. this morning because of the late arrival of mail. It was to be en route westward.

Foggy weather and drifting rain made for bad flying conditions in this section and several local pilots said they did not care to venture aloft today.

At Rockne's home in South Bend, Ind., it was said he left yesterday bound for California and although his mode of travel was not known, he frequently traveled by plane.

present of Notre Dame, was informed by the Associated Press by telephone of Rockne's death. The news spread like wildfire over the campus at South Bend, Ind.

Mrs. Rockne was expected to return to South Bend today with two of her four children, after a vacation to Florida.

Parents of W. S. Miller

Living in Lawrence

March 31 (AP)—Waldo R. Miller, killed with Knute Rockne and others in the Kansas plane crash, was the son of Rev. and Mrs. Edward F. Miller, 9 Logan st., Lawrence, Mass.

Rev. Miller is pastor of the Central M. E. Church and has been conducting the Sunday services at Essex County Jail which Russell Noble, alleged bomber slayer, attends.

Waldo Miller was employed by the Aetna Life Insurance Company of Hartford and lived in that city. His high school education was obtained in the Waltham, Mass. high school.

His parents were away from home when word reached this city of the tragedy. Friends said they knew that son was on his way to Los Angeles, but did not know he had chosen to go by airplane, as he was undecided about that when he last wrote.

20 FISHERMEN ESCAPE DEATH IN WRECK

North Sydney, N. S. W., March 31 (AP)—A gripping story of hardship, the crew of 20 of the Gloucester schooner Angie L. Marshall was rescued from Newfoundland to their homes in the United States today.

The 19 men and Capt. Porger saved themselves last Thursday after the schooner sprang a leak in an ice jam and sank.

The fishermen managed the pumps for many hours, but could not save the vessel, and finally Capt. Porger ordered them to the boats. Shortly afterward the Marshall went down.

The crew stuck to the oars and after a bitter fight against the elements reached La Parle, N. F., and later Port aux Basques on their journey homeward.

The Marshall was a 100-ton auxiliary schooner owned by J. Marshall.

The Romances of Playboy Hathaway

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Feminine polemicist made playboy Elliott R. Hathaway's life so round. In his presence he was calmed and sweet. He was quick to see the beautiful and the charming. More of the playboy's romances appear today.

Fall River, March 31—Lord Byron is his Don Juan stanza wrote:

"Man's love of man's life is a thing apart; 'Tis in woman's whole existence."

Not so to Pinky Hathaway. Love was his whole existence. He wanted it so. He made it so.

William Thackeray's credo that "Who loves no wine, woman or song. He is a fool his whole life long," Pinky Hathaway adopted as his credo.

To the playboy love was the price of learning. He adamantly maintained that the "lion loves" the "mouse looks on."

Elliot R. Hathaway, 30, of the Boston Herald and Iris, a young fellow.

Remote as matrimony was in Pinky's mind, he had definite ideas about the girl with whom he wanted to marry.

Pinky, he had definite ideas about the girl with whom he wanted to marry. He wanted her, he said. The playboy would then cease being the playboy and turn husband, devoted and appreciative.

It was a happy thought.

(The playboy's vanity and how it asserted itself will be told in tomorrow's recital of Hathaway's romances. His grandstand plays before the girls he wanted to make a bit wiser will be told.)

GALAXY OF GIRLS

His galaxy of feminine stars was a knockout.

From the moment the playboy began wearing spats he became unto himself "The Great 1. A. M."

He looked about it as the mark of the thoroughbred and the what of a well-dressed man's wardrobe.

Pinky wore spats while his boy friends looked on timidly and jealously.

N. E. Telephone After

Company in Vermont

Washington, March 31 (AP)—The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission today for permission to acquire stock control of the Connecticut Valley Telephone Company operating in Vermont and New Hampshire.

The New England company now owns 80 shares of the 200 shares of the Connecticut company and proposes to buy enough stock to gain control at $32 a share or one share of New England Telephone & Telegraph Company stock for four shares of Connecticut Valley.

Satisfied with his own good looks, he aimed not only to please but to improve "his women." And he did. They fell without reason, without rhyme.

Pinky was a great bidder, the boys of the town will tell you. Kidding was one of his best stocks in trade.

"Oh, lady, you're so beautiful! Just love your hair and eyes!" he crooned sentimentally into willing ears.

Many a girl was kidded into thinking she was the playboy's one and only, later to discover that many before her had listened attentively, enthralled, in the same "sweet nothings" that she was one in a long chain of admired young women.

But some day the playboy hoped to turn Benedicite. Some day he hoped to "check the carpeted aisle" and take the vow. Some day he hoped to "check it all" and say "yes" to an appealing girl and on his down.

But in the meantime it was one "love's young dream" after another for the Beau Brummel and Iris.

Remote as matrimony was in Pinky's mind, he had definite ideas about the girl with whom he wanted to marry.

great thought and meditation. They revealed that in the secret recesses of the male soul was the desire for the fine things of life, substantial things, the things that crown the heart and the home.

PLAYBOY'S IDEAL

A girl with brains, good-looking, domestic and capable.

In a nutshell, Mrs. Elliott R. Hathaway, when the time rolled round had to answer in those demands.

"She's got to have brains, old man," he confided. "Have a good time with the dumb ones. But marry a smart one."

The beauty he demanded in his good-time partners these days, he failed to stress as important in his choice of a friend.

"Pinky is like a great many young ones," his friend revealed. "He was in love with life. You can't blame him. He had the looks and he wanted to be happy. He wanted to be happy all the time."

To this same pal he told of the future Mrs. Hathaway. He said he had no one in mind since the daughter of the prominent business man turned him down. He wasn't looking for her, he added.

But when she appeared, mentally endowed, graceful, domestic, home-loving and companionable. "He was in love with life. You can't blame him. He had the looks and he wanted to be happy. He wanted to be happy all the time."

It was a happy thought.

CURTAINS RAPS ASSAILANTS OF TEUTON PACT

Berlin, March 31 (AP)—Julius Curtius, foreign minister, upbraiding the projected Anglo-German economic union against attacks by British and French foreign ministers, told the Reichstag today the union violated no treaties and was intended to fit into plans for better economic organization of Europe.

"Economic treaties between the Austrians and Germans are not negotiable," he declared. "It is economic treaties which are the basis of the Pan-European movement."

"The best effect of the economic union will be to bring about a new era of peace and stability in Europe. We are not interested in the economic union for its own sake, but for the sake of the peace and stability of Europe."

CREDIT TO RUMANIA
He credited the Rumanian foreign minister, Mironescu, with having been among the first to plead for economic agreement and to remind the Reichstag that the German government had agreed to the Rumanian plan for a Pan-European union on a strictly political basis.

HITLER TO TEST DICTATORSHIP

Munich, March 31 (INB)—Adolf Hitler, militant leader of the German Fascists, announced today he would institute suit in the Constitutional Court against the dictatorial decree promulgated by President von Hindenburg to curb radical activities.

At the same time Hitler ordered members of the Fascist party to report scrupulously all restrictive measures imposed by the government without waiting judicial review.

The action of President von Hindenburg, which curtails freedom of speech and assembly, already has fostered a demand for a special session in the Reichstag.

Youth Grabs Cow's Tail, Is Saved From Slames
Conventry, Vt., March 31—John Carroll, 15, of this town, has suddenly found himself a hero. Risking his own life to save the cow's animal in his charge, he is only concerned that he could not have performed in the films.

Nearly unconscious from the shock, John saved his own life by grasping the tail of a twisted cow as the cow by him after he set her free, and was dragged to safety outside, where he fainted dead away.

PRISON RULES TO STAND
Thomaston, Me., March 31—Despite the protest, inmates of the State prison here will not be allowed to send out more than two love letters a week and they must also abide by the other new rules instituted by Warden Charles H. Lincoln, two of the three members of the board of prison commissioners declared today.

Five convicts, ring leaders in the six-hour noise riot early Sunday, in protest against the new rules, are in solitary confinement.

STEALING A ROUND OF GOLF IS LATEST 'Thing in Crime'
Providence, R. I., March 31 (AP)—Stealing a round of golf is a new pastime in this State. It seems that certain parties have made recent visits to the Rhode Island Country Club at Narragansett without the necessary "guest privileges." They drove there in automobiles, park on a back road, walk out on the course and play around all the holes not within sight of the clubhouse.

Some college students were caught in the act last week, but were released with the understanding that they would not do it again. The next offenders will be taken to court.

VERMONT VOTES FOR SENATOR
Montpelier, Vt., March 31—Vermont Republicans strove today to give Warren B. Austin, "Tory" a normal majority over his Democratic opponent, Stephen M. Dorrance, "wet" in its special election to fill the vacancy created by the death of U. S. Senator Frank L. Graves.

Republican leaders feared a less than normal majority for their candidate. There was no fear that this monthly Republican State would elect a Democratic candidate.

A bitter primary conflict, during which the Republican machine backed Austin's opponent, U. S. Senator Frank C. Partridge; the bad road conditions in some of the mountainous parts of the State; and the vigorous campaign conducted by Dorrance have conspired to have the Republicans apprehensive of being unable to poll more than a minimum margin.

*Hockey Some Day
To Have a Real
World's Series*

WHAT WILL SOLONS DO ABOUT BOXING?

ONE OF THESE days you are going to have a REAL world's hockey series. It will not be along the third line the present contest for the Stanley cup are conducted. It will not be among teams who have played together throughout the season. It will be akin to the post-season baseball duels between the pennant winners in the National and American Leagues. Unless this sports observer reads the signs along the trail wrongly, there is a pronounced drift toward twin major hockey leagues. When this comes the winners will meet for the world's hockey championship as in baseball.

The hockey solution seems to be the twin majors, as in baseball. Either the present Canadian-American Hockey League or the International Hockey League should be raised to major league ranking, or else these two present "minor" leagues should be combined into another major.

The simplest solution seems to be the combining of the Canadian-American and the International Leagues into one big major circuit. With the addition of the proposed third New York hockey team, which will make its headquarters in the Bronx Coliseum, the pairing of the two leagues could give the new major league a 24-club circuit, consisting of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Springfield, Providence and New Haven of the Can-Am and Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Syracuse and Chicago of the International.

C. F. ADAMS President of the National Hockey League, who is giving the present National League, which is comprised of Boston, Chicago, New York Rangers and New York Americans, Montreal Maroons and Montreal Les Canadiens, Detroit, Philadelphia, Toronto and Ottawa, would provide a real world's hockey series.

ANYONE in touch with the hockey situation knows the time has come for a new shuffle. The Bruins are top-heavy with two teams from New York and two teams from Montreal. One of the New York and one of the Montreal teams should be transferred to another major league. Ottawa is giving its team such a good support that some think the Canadian capital is not a major league city. If President Adams and the other National League members want to give Boston, the real hub of American hockey, a second major league team? Why not elevate the present Bruin club to major league ranking?

The Bruin club, with one or two points notwithstanding, would give any of the National League outfits even battle. The 14,000 fans who were in the Boston Garden last Saturday night will testify for that. Any hockey fans who do not think the club are about ripe for major league service should go to the Boston Garden tomorrow night and see the club throw out their battle front against the Pittsburgh Indians in the fourth game of the Foutaine Cup series.

EDDIE POWER Boston, like New York and Montreal, should have two major league hockey outfits. The Bruin club should be elevated to major league ranking either by giving Boston two teams in the National Hockey League or forming another major league out of the International and Canadian-American circuits.

What you think of the Bruins? Let us know about it. Your opinions either will be given space in the Boston Evening American or forwarded to President Adams and directors of the National Hockey League. The hockey moguls naturally will be guided by public opinion.

AFTER a year of investigation of boxing, months of special hearings and spending of the taxpayers' money in delivering into the situation, it begins to look as if the solons were in the day State will remain in status quo.

Anyway from the Bill comes the tip that Bill 1173, which provided for sweeping and necessary changes in the constitution of boxing here, is likely to be vetoed unless the solons suddenly come to an awakening.

One of the things that the catch phrase, "understanding is to get away" is going to undo the entire work of the past year. It begins to look that way.

It is too bad that the special hearings throughout the State and the comment in the various newspapers, showed that there was something radically wrong with boxing and a change in the way the boxing game is conducted was imperative.

ALEX MACLEAN THE BOXING game here in the Bay State since a director like Alex MacLean at the head. MacLean, not only is a fighter, he is progressive, broadminded, fearless and experienced. He knows boxing from Alpha to Omega, understands the game from the inside out and the outside in. He is a diplomat. He plays no favorites. He will not run politics for the fly-by-night element. He is intelligent and experienced enough to keep an eye on the future, to build for the future. He knows the big thing about his job is to keep the sport clean and flourishing and to guard anything that will jeopardize its future.

Are the solons going to lay down on the boxing job? Or are they going to put boxing back on an even keel?

WHEN THE Lucky Limerick winners park themselves in the grand stand at Braves Field two weeks from today they may be looking at the next world's champion. Anyway that Brooklyn outfit shapes up as about the only National League team capable of beating out the Cardinals for the pennant in the present climate. It looks if an agreement was being reached between President Vory and Drury Watson. With the Dufferin in harness Brooklyn's chances for coping the pennant greatly increase.

Another colorful sports hero, John Danton, B. C.'s football captain, star end, great pitcher and masterful center, has headed the greatest rival ring, as told in yesterday's Boston Evening American, one jump ahead as usual. Danton's chances would be more realistic under "big league" management. Still sometimes the boxer makes the manager as well as the manager the boxer.

The heavyweight ring situation is readjusting itself, as the Boston Evening American has pointed out. Before the Boston Evening American is likely to wind up with Jack Sharkey being crowned world's heavy-weight champion. If you recollect the Boston Evening American told you last New Year's Day to pass that prediction in your hat.

Bruin Ace Once Played Nearly Full Game While 'Out Cold'

This is the first of a series of hockey stories by Bill Grimes, Boston Evening American sport writer, on thrilling experiences of ice stars. In today's articles Grimes tells some of the exciting moments in the career of Eddie Shore, star of the Bruins.

Eddie Shore, human dynamo of the Bruins, is probably hockey's most injured player. There is scarcely an inch of his face that has escaped patching. He has had a hard time of it, but he has not been battered and bruised in his 11 years in the game.

Among the many narrow escapes from serious and permanent injury that Shore has experienced, Eddie regards the near loss of an eye as the one that he remembers most vividly.

Two years ago, in a game against the Blackhawks at Chicago, Shore was making a solo dash down the ice for what looked like a certain score. As he sped close to the net, he was hit by the Hawkeye defense, and he spilled to the ice.

Rabbit Mervin, who seemed into the fray at lightning speed, was unable to check himself as he bore down on Shore, and he struck him.

SHORE NEARLY LOST EYE As he did so, Shore rubbed himself on his elbow and one of Mervin's skates hit him between the eyes. The blow missed his forehead by the smallest fraction of an inch.

"I regard my escape in that game as miraculous," says Shore.

In spite of the fact that he has figured prominently in all his games with the Bruins, Shore's most thrilling experience, according to himself, came when he was playing amateur hockey for the Seattle, Washington, team.

"We were playing the Winnipeg Maroons, just before I turned professional," Shore recalls. "In that game I was out and bruised in no less than 25 places. I was knocked out and carried from the ice three or four minutes of the game."

The strange part of it is that I had no recollection of playing after the first time I was knocked out. All my senses were mechanical. But I played so that no one could observe anything wrong. The last time I was knocked out, I was carried from the ice and I was out for three or four minutes of the game.

When I came back, I was out and bruised in no less than 25 places. I was knocked out and carried from the ice three or four minutes of the game.

HONORS EASY STUDENT PUT AT HARVARD

Copies of Crimmon "Stuffed" by Lampson Staff, Then Come the Sleuths

The second round of the Crimmon-Lampson battle, fought in the early morning hours today, apparently ended in a draw, although both sides loudly claimed victory.

Yesterday the Crimmon, Harvard daily, carried an advertisement and a news story announcing the demise of the Lampson, satirical magazine. The Lampson staff denied the story, threatened a $10,000 damage suit, and set to work on plans for reprisals more in keeping with undergraduate spirit than legal redress.

At dawn today, as newsmen carried today's issue of the Crimmon about the sleeping campus, they were closely followed by members of the Lampson staff, who inserted in each copy a sheet, printed in the Crimmon style, containing a refutation and an abrupt apology for yesterday's attack.

FATHERS ARE DEFEATED

The insert, padded out with advertisements and news stories said to have been confiscated in an earlier raid on the Crimmon office, said in part:

"Add to any danger of a lawsuit or any fear of the consequences, which it is obvious could result from the insertion of the insert, the board of editors of the Harvard Crimmon wishes to make public apology for the unethical action of two of its members. The statement was a poor practical joke at best and the Crimmon assures its subscribers that it will never again stray so far from the prescribed realm of good taste."

The papers with the Crimmon insert all delivered, the Lampsonites were in the streets, well satisfied with their night's work.

But word the Lampson staff members who trailed the newsmen failed to notice another group of men in turn trailed them, and removed the inserts, carrying them away to the Crimmon office.

WORK UNDONE

According to members of the Crimmon staff, all the Lampson organization accomplished by their toil was the loss of a night's sleep.

However, from the Lampson camp came the taunt to the Crimmon that a second group of Lampson workers was scheduled within the work of the Crimmon staff by drawing entire copies of the Crimmon into doorways just vacated by the Crimmon avengers.

But for the intervention of early classes it appeared the trailing might have gone on indefinitely, with the victory to the publication with the greater number of men with the Crimmon.

Today heavy-eyed members of both factions declared they had assisted with matters as they could, and willing to trade the fact of reversal for a good night's rest.

Asked about the projected damage suit, one associate editor of the Crimmon said, "Aw, hell. I don't know. How can I talk about things like that when it's painful to keep my eyes open?"

Judge Commends Halting of Fight After Four Learned Information Erroneous

Judge William M. Prest, in Suffolk Probate Court, commended the contestants for their action, and allowed the estate to be valued at $1,000,000, with a bequest of $500,000 to Boston College to establish a school of journalism.

OYSTER OPENER CHAMPION, JIM FARREN, DEAD

Handled 100,000,000 Bivalves at Atwood's; He Never Found a Pearl

The champion oyster opener of Boston—and perhaps of the world—has opened his last oyster.

Jim Farren, for 58 years at Atwood's ancient dining room, oyster house, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Parker, at 22 Soledad st., Charlestown, from an illness brought on when he was struck by a lobster in City st., Charlestown, more than a year ago.

During that year, the erect figure of Farren, who was nearly an octogenarian, had been missing from the market district, and the oyster house was a ghost town, were coming more slowly across the bar at Atwood's.

During his long joint with the oyster business and their rugged armor, Farren estimated that he had opened more than 100,000,000. And he never found a pearl.

He was proud of his record of 5000 oysters opened in nine hours, and on one occasion, a number of Boston Times men demonstrated his prowess on the stage of the old Boston Times while the oyster house of his fans out in the audience.

With Farren, opening oysters was an art. Where the ordinary mortal opens them only after a long, paring struggle, ending with the knife, Farren picked up his victim, gave a quick flip with his thumb, and the shell was open, smiling up at you.

Five daughters, 23 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren survive the champion oyster opener.

The daughters, in addition to Mrs. Parker, are Mrs. Frank Sheehan, Mrs. Timothy Sullivan and Mrs. Edward Higgins, all of Boston and Mrs. F. Hutchinson of Braintree.

The funeral will be held tomorrow from the Soledad st. home with a mass of requiem at St. Mary's Church, Charlestown, at 9 a. m.

BLAST VICTIM IS DEAD; 4 INJURED

Slaughter, March 31.—One man is dead, despite a woman's heroic efforts to save him, and a second is on the danger list in Brockton Hospital as result of a violent explosion in the Meade Rubber Co. factory, Brock st., last night.

Charles Lundstedt, 31, of Washington st., in whose clothing flames were extinguished by Mrs. Nellie Hayward, died in the Brockton Hospital from burns today.

The name of William Fendall, 42, of Rose st., is on the danger list, but hospital officials say he will recover.

Joseph McNulty of Station st. and Charles W. Mora of 25 Bradford st. were severely burned but refused hospital treatment. Edward Rubel of Sumner st., a member of the firm, cut his hands while breaking windows to ventilate the room and prevent another explosion.

The blast, said to have been caused by a spark igniting naphtha fumes, occurred in the spreading room just before closing time. The explosion rocked adjacent buildings and the clothing of the workmen in the room was ignited.

Mrs. Edwards, who lives nearby, saw four men in flames, tumbling through a window of the factory. Seizing a blanket she ran after Lundstedt, who was a mass of fire. She threw the blanket over him and covered him with it, but the man was fatally burned.

FAILURE TO PROVE CENTRAL ARTERY 'GHOSTLY BLUNDER'

CAMERA MAN IS BALKED

P. A. O'CONNELL IN WARNING TO LEGISLATURE

Head of Retail Trade Board Says Business Is Strangled by Opposition

Failure of the Legislature to authorize construction of a central artery in Boston is a ghostly blunder, because business is being strangled for want of such a highway, Vice-President P. A. O'Connell of the Retail Trade Board declared today.

O'Connell, vice president of the Retail Trade Board, said that the Legislature's failure to act on the proposed central artery through downtown Boston, the bill on which is now before them for action, "is a blunder."

He said that the Legislature's failure to act on the proposed central artery through downtown Boston, the bill on which is now before them for action, "is a blunder."

More than five years ago the business concerns in Boston realized that traffic congestion had reached the stranglehold point and unless a radical remedy was taken, the city would be a dead city.

"No measure in recent years has received such unanimous approval," said Edwin D. Brooks, president of the Boston Real Estate Exchange, said: "When the Real Estate Exchange favors a bill which is going to be passed, it is a sure sign that it is a good bill."

BALCHEN PLANE BACK IN CITY

After a fruitless search for victims of the Viking disaster in the fields off Horse Island, New Brunswick, Bert Balchen and his companions returned to the Boston airport today to their plane Sikorsky amphibian.

The big airplane took off from John N. B. the morning, stopped at Portland on the return trip for refueling. They landed here at 11:30 o'clock.

Balchen and his companions, Merion Cooper and Randy Erwin, searched the ice fields for Victor Fennell and A. G. Penrod, New York mailman picture men, among the 22 missing in the earlier Viking disaster.

"There is not the slightest chance that any of those fellows are alive," Cooper said. "We had wonderful visibility up there and the only things we saw were packs of seals and live parties of seal hunters in Fortune harbor."

Belchen said the relief flight started too late, as the ice was covered by a supply of the Labrador coast, and the plane should have arrived within 48 hours of the accident.

It was an hour after arriving at Boston that the plane took off for New Brunswick, N. J.

Charles Zellen, an employee of the City Hospital, and an underpaid companion were leaving the capital building yesterday when they were caught in a fire which erupted from the building at 11:30 o'clock.

"Ab! Bringing home the bacon," said Officer Yuse as a search of Zellen's bundle revealed a quantity of metal articles to have been taken from the hospital.

Hospital authorities had asked the co-operation of police in stopping suspected diversion of loot from the kitchen.

Zellen was found guilty in Municipal Court this morning and placed on probation for a year after he told Judge Dornell he had a wife and child.

When Food SOURS

After two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomach. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an acid neutralizer many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a teaspoonful, pleasant, efficient and safe. It has been the standard with physicians for more than 50 years.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for over fifty years in correcting excess acids, flat and bloated—any drugstore. The genuine is always a liquid—never made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips on wrapper and bottle.

Our Flying Girls

They Are Plucky

MISS ELINOR SMITH WITH THE OXYGEN TUBE IN HER MOUTH, THE BREAKING OF WHICH CAUSED HER TO LOSE CONSCIOUSNESS

Miss Elinor Smith, remarkable young flying girl, went toward the clouds in search of an altitude record. Up 25,000 feet, she lost consciousness, and her ship plunged head first 23,000 feet down, a drop of about four miles. "Two thousand feet above the ground," says she, "I came to. My ears were ringing, I was groggy, but I had enough sense to side-slip and miss the trees." The engine had gone dead and the plucky girl was found weeping beside her plane, both uninjured. She is going up after the record again.

Our flying girls answer one old objection of men opposed to woman suffrage. They need to say: "If women want to vote, let them go to war and fight like men."

The flying girls prove that they have all the courage possessed by men. In addition to that, they produce the men.

A Dangerous Pest

Congress Should Save Our Pine Trees

There are more ways of destroying forests than by chopping them down or burning them up. The dull and drowsy mind of the Washington bureaucracy is still slumbering on the question of a survey of the pine borer, which is already destroying as many trees as are lost in forest fires.

It refuses to act and offers the excuse that while fires must be put out at once there is plenty of time in which to study the pine borer.

Meanwhile the borer is increasing and multiplying and devastating our pine forests in the process.

Surveys conducted for the last seven years in the pine region of Southern Oregon and Northern California on two separate projects, about half of which belong to the National Government, show losses due to the pine borer or beetle of about $70,000,000.

A matter of $200,000 has been voted for a survey, but that is ridiculously inadequate. Not one cent thus far has been spent in California, where the damage from the pine borer is great and swiftly growing.

California's crowning glory is her trees. But she will be shorn of a great part of that glory, the glory of her beautiful pines, unless Congress comes to her aid in a systematic and effective fight against the pine borer.

Congress should furnish millions of dollars for a Pacific Coast campaign of extinction against this pest and as quickly as the Government furnished a matter of five million dollars in the war on the fruit fly.

The pine borer is quite as damaging as the fruit fly. It is destroying the property of the people and rapidly ruining the beauties of Western America.

The destruction will be complete unless Congress acts. SAVE OUR PINE TREES OR SOON THERE WILL BE NONE LEFT TO SAVE.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND
Marriage as a Speculation

"WHY I Never Married" is the caption over a current series of confessions. Any woman could answer that without a moment's hesitation.

When a man or woman says single it is always for a good, big reason. But if somebody should say why we DID marry, lots of women would have to stop and think a long time before replying. Our reasons are so hazy and frivolous, these days.

Once there was no question about it. If you didn't marry, you were a failure in the eyes of the world and a bitter disappointment to the family. Ladies were to substitute for orange blossoms; and a wedding was a greater prize than a college degree or a loving-cup.

Now, that all that is OUT—as quaint, hokey, joke about a horse and buggy!—there is as well as young men, are beginning to look upon marriage as a joke.

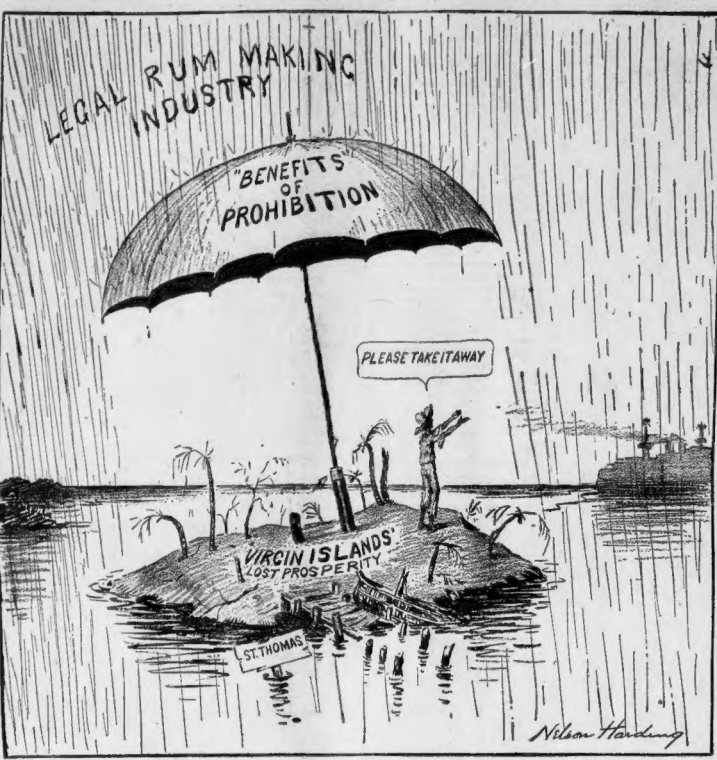

gambler rather than as a goal. And a husband is regarded as a speculation, rather than as life's greatest necessity.

In the sweet old days, when every married man was a HUSBAND and never forgot it, marriage was a feather in your cap. But, in these days, when so many husbands are merely married-bachelors, it is just as apt to be a sack in the shoe.

If you are unattached, the men suspect that you have deep, dark designs on them. And if you are married, you suspect all the women of having deep, dark designs on your husband. So, you don't get much comfort either way.

All of which is a nonsensical way of saying that marriage, which once "settled" a man or a woman for life, doesn't SETTLE anything, any more.

Listen, World! :: Labor

By ELSIE ROBINSON
What's Fair?

THE FOLLOWING facts are startling rows. They're starting rows wherever men are employed, or being employed. And this isn't any passing squabble. It means more than a temporary shrinkage of pay envelopes. It means a thing that is something in the American history. For the good? Or the bad? I don't know. Here are the facts. Judge for yourself.

A certain man inserted the following notice in the want ads of a morning paper:

"Carpenters—Tough work—must be fast workers—$4 a day, apply at—
By the next morning, 74 letters commenting on that ad had arrived at this department. The writers were all indignant and voiced much the same argument. Something should be done about an offer like that! That man was taking advantage of the workers' misfortune to grind them down to slave wages. Who ever heard of skilled carpenters working for $4 a day? The union wage (in the state in which this ad was placed) was $9 a day. It took a man years of hard work, as an apprentice, to get that price. The man who then some bloated capitalist tried to make all those years count for nothing, just because this Winter had put men in a tight hole and their families were starving. He was a scoundrel. Seeing that his lie's work, their expert records, cheapened their anger. Seeing that his lie's work, their expert records, cheapened their anger. Seeing that his lie's work, their expert records, cheapened their anger.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE
Sons and Daughters of Stars

NEW YORK, March 31.—Sons and daughters of the spotlight favorably received today in an entirely different strain. A paragraph is worth quoting:

"I am doing 10 years for something that deserved it. Everyone has his chance. I had 30 and muffed them all. The world is filled with my kind, first a liar, then a braggart, utterly lacking sympathy. Because of a sudden opportunity lifting me into an undeserved job, I thought myself superior. From then on—the old story. Buck patterns and false friends. It took a cold call in a gray prison to make me realize the gift of the gods to humbly, I had none of it. This is why I am here."

During the past year in New York some 2000 quick lunch and burry up restaurants have hung up shutters. In upstate times every waiter who saved a few hundred dollars opened an eating place. The unfortunate have gone back to waiting.

The mother of a Broadway actor calls for her son nightly in his dressing room and escorts him home, according to a press agent's printed story. All of which recalls Rose Bulger's story of the gangly, bare-foot mountain boy running after a woman along a lonely road. A traveler stopped him and inquired: "Who are you chasing that poor old lady?"

"And, damn her, she's tryin' to wean me."

He has that charm notoriously found among the workmen in Hollywood. P. L. R. M. Beach and New York have seen him. He was mingling with parasites who were warding off the publicity by sending him on on glorious errands and parking him beside dead stars. He was at dinner parties with a No. 1.

Pat Rooney, III, expresses the versatility that distinguished his last-stepping father and grandfather, the remembered career of his mother, Marion Bent. Miss Bent has retired, but the father and son carry on in an offering that warns the old-timer.

Ethel Barrymore's daughter and son are on the board. Otto Skinner's daughter, Cernelia has become a close rival of Ruth Draper with her impersonations. Law Field's son and daughter, Herbert and Dorothy, have sponsored musical hits and Julius Tannen's son is a stage juvenile.

Add current shrinkage: A Fifth avenue operator has a midget else where. There has been a midget else where. There has been a midget else where.

Mussolini—Study Him

A Man of Power and Excessive Work

"HOW DO YOU DO?" "YES, PLEASE BE BRIEF."

One picture is worth a thousand words. These four pictures of the powerful Mussolini are equal to four thousand words. In fact fifty thousand words wouldn't tell you as much about the man as these pictures tell, showing the strong face, powerful chin, intense concentration. There, indeed, is a "Roman."

You see him in the first picture courteously receiving a visitor.

Next, emphasizing the value of time by answering a question as follows: "We are sincere in desiring no war... Italy needs peace for her industry and trade... Therefore we shall do nothing to upset the internal stability which we have brought. But we mean nobody else to upset it either. And when I see other nations with words of peace on their lips and their hands upon their sword hilts, it would be treachery to Italy not to take steps to safeguard our country."

You notice what he says about other nations "with their hands upon their sword hilts." We might be able to use one or two men like Mussolini in this country, although, of course, as a less spirited American, we should not want a dictator.

We like to run ourselves or at least think that we run ourselves, even if we make mistakes.

The picture of Mussolini at work at his desk located in the great hall of the Palazzo Venezia, the only furniture in the huge hall, shows interestingly the shape of Mussolini's powerful head.

His skull belongs to the brachycephalic type, which means a short head, making up in breadth for its shortness. The typical American business head is dolichocephalic, which means a long head.

Some believe that the wide head means energy and the long head thought. This particular head of Mussolini's possesses both.

Mussolini says truly: "It is not true that Pacism began with me and will end with me. There is much more work to be done in Italy, and when my work is done then I shall leave in the people a spirit which will endure. Some people like me to Blomstedt they say I have created a machine which I, the inventor, can work. We have something besides a marvelous machine in Italy today. We have a people tried and tempered by the ordeal of anarchy, and we know what their patriotism is worth."

Mussolini lives Italy and lives for Italy, and says to the workers looking him in the face:

"Workers—as an immediate witness to my work, know that I have no passion but one: to ensure your life, to increase your well-being, and to raise you up morally and spiritually."

A Lesson in Friendship

By WINIFRED BLACK
Little Boy and His Dog

THE LITTLE boy went down town with his dog the other day. To tell the truth about it, the little boy and the dog ran away together.

They were tired of backyards and mothers, and people who tapped on the window and said, "Don't do that be careful now, son."

And so they watched for a good chance when the grocery boy left the little gate in the backyard open, away went the little boy and his dog.

Out into the mysterious place where great cars Winifred Black ran up and down the street, the dog barked and the boy pushed and pushed. And policemen stood at the corners like great lords of high degree, telling the world who could go and who mustn't.

Windows full of the most delicious things; oranges, red apples, and great baskets of rich brown nuts, and chewing gum, too, in great packages.

Down among the crowds they hurried—the runaway boy and the runaway dog. Across busy streets, whipping around corners, darting through crowds, as if the very spirit of youth adventure and gay comedy were in them.

And he was just a little mongrel, too—the runaway dog. Nothing but a mongrel, not even a speck of pedigree, not even a drop of blood on the roof of his mouth to tell that he had one drop of aristocratic blood beating in his faithful heart.

Back into the crowd, again, back to the place where the little boy he loved had died. And late in the afternoon when they finally untied him at the police station—what! he was off like a shot. Back into the crowd, again, back to the place where the little boy he loved had died. And late in the afternoon when they finally untied him at the police station—what! he was off like a shot.
